Brooklyn Jockey Club Races. Adm. to Grand Stand, 32. Adm. to Field Stand, 75e SIX RACES TO-MORROW AT 2.30 P. M. The Dead Sea Suggests a Thought.

The Dead Sea receives from the River Jordan and other sources 6,500,000 tons of water daily. It has no outlet, yet its surface level is kept down unfailingly by an irresistible force. That force is Evaporation. Several thousand people each week have something they want to sell. Looks as though these things would pile up week by week. Yet the accumulation is kept down unfailingly by Sunday World "Wants." World readers furnish buyers as soon as the seller offers his "For Sale."

Take this morning, for instance. Lot of interesting bargains. And for those not suited this morning there are tomorrow's offerings to follow. If you are real hard to suit, then look over Sunday's "For Sales." The Sunday World. is the great clearing-house for bargains.

There is a goodly list this morning however. The total in number is sixtythree, and here are some of them: A lot of store fixtures, new and second hand; a household outfit, just the thing for the newly married; 100 shares of treasury, stock; a butcher's outfit, etc., etc.
